"No one can escape the shadow of oneself" is the philosophy behind his creations. His designs obviously speak of who he is and his passion for Thai culture which is shaped by his experience since he was young to the present date. He has travelled in many places around Thailand where he had the chance to meet and talked to different people and listened to their stories and beliefs. He has had the opportunity to learn from them which he will never get from books. He is particularly interested in local craftsmanship. He has visited villages around the country and learned ancient techniques from the local villagers. He would love to keep what he has learned from them, so he combines them with modern arts to design products appropriate to the current lifestyle.

His highest goal as a designer is to be a part of making Thai designs stronger and more competitive in the global market. It might take a long time but it's better to do something than not to do anything. He would like to do it to create opportunities for future Thai designers. This is his way to give back to what his country has given him in return because he is Thai and he will forever live in the shadow of his beloved country.

「自分自身の影から逃れられる者はいない」という哲学が彼の創作の背景にあります。彼のデザインは、タイ人としての幼少から今日までの経験からもたらされた、タイ文化への情熱と彼自身を物語っています。タイ国内を広く旅し、本からは決して得られない知識を求めて、様々な人に出会い、彼らの物語と信仰について知る機会を得てきました。彼の興味は特に地方の工芸文化にあり、国内の村々を回り先祖代々伝わる技術を学んできました。そしてこれらの技術が継承されることを目指し、近現代の美術と結びつけ、今日の生活に適したデザインを創造しています。

彼のゴールは、タイのデザインが、世界市場の競争に耐え得るようになり、デザイナーとして貢献することです。これは時間がかかることかもしれませんが、意味のあることでしょう。それが、彼なりの祖国への恩返しなのです。なぜなら、彼はタイ人であり、そして愛する祖国の影の元、永遠に生きるからです。

<Residency at Youkobo Art Space, Tokyo and Fukuoka>

During his 2-month residency at Youkobo Art Space, Saran pursued a range of activities. In April, he ran special art classes at Momoshi Elementary School, which neighbours Youkobo. The school children created sculptures of trees sized to their own height and presented them outdoors in "Trolls in the Park, Children's exhibition" held at the Metropolitan Zempukui Park during the May "golden week". As a result of his studio residency he presented a participatory installation artwork titled 'SPIRIT'. Visitors completed Tanszaku (a strip of long paper) by answering the artist's questions, then adding it to the artwork. He also joined a course in Ogawa-cho, Saitama, to experience traditional Japanese Papermaking. Here he listened to local's stories enthusiastically with his passion for preserving rural craftsmanship in Thailand. After his residency in Tokyo, through the introduction of Youkobo he moved to Studio Kura in Fukuoka, where he then presented an artwork "Spirit Away" at Itoshima Arts Farm 2012 also ran further workshops for local children.

<遊工房アートスペースでの滞在制作、そして東京と福岡>

遊工房アートスペースでの2カ月の滞在制作で、様々な活動を展開しました。4月には、遊工房に隣接する桃井第四小学校で特別授業を行い、「私の中の木」をテーマに子ども達は自分の背丈の高さの木を制作しました。作品は、5月のゴールデンウィーク中に地元善福寺公園で野外展示しました「トロールの森2012春の子供展」。滞在制作の成果展「SPIRIT」では、参加型の展示を行い、来訪者が作家の問い掛けに対応した短冊作りをし、作品に加えていきました。又、タイの地方工芸保存に情熱を傾けるサランは、埼玉県小川町の和紙漉き体験に参加し、地元の人話に熱心に耳を傾けました。2カ月の東京での滞在制作の後、遊工房の紹介で福岡のStudio Kuraへ移動。「糸島芸祭2012」に作品「Spirit Away」を出展。又、期間中に地元の子供の為のワークショップも行いました。

"As I have known Khun Saran for years as a talent young Thai Designer, I am impressed with his strong intention to make design as a good tool to answer several questions both for his life and for all of his friends in this world. I have no doubt that he received top awards of the country like Thai Creative Awards, Design Excellent Mark etc. His future will be as bright as shining star and I believed so."

<My first experience of residency program in abroad, Japan.>

Distance is not always the indicator of difference. This is what I have learned during my participation in the JENESYS Program hosted by the Japan Foundation. During my activities at Youkobo Art Space, an experience that I gained from a workshop with children was really special for me. 'Tree in My Mind' is a tree which will grow both in the children's hearts and imaginations. 'SPIRIT' was the first exhibition in Japan in which I combined Japanese and Thai culture to look for the similarities and the differences of each. It was about finding what our hearts have lost through living in the big city. Then, during my trip to Fukuoka, I participated with Kura Studio in the event Itoshima Art Farm 2012. There were workshops about rice design and I held an exhibition called 'Spirit Away'. It told a fictional story about rice through artwork made from paper displayed among beautiful nature. Moreover, during my stay in Japan, I had an opportunity to discuss with famous local artists and designers, and to learn about the traditional Japanese papermaking process. Even though each place is quite far away from other places and quite different, something in the soul is similar. Everywhere I go, I feel like it is home.

<初めてのレジデンス体験>

距離が相違を生み出すとは限らない。これは、国際交流基金が主催するJENESYSプログラムに参加して学んだことだ。遊工房アートスペースでの活動中、子供達とのワークショップから得た経験は、特に印象深かった。「私の中の木」は、子供の心と想像力の両方の中で育つ木だ。日本での初めての展覧会となった「SPIRIT」では、日本とタイの文化を組み合わせる類似点と相違点を探した。それは、大都会の生活の中で失われた私達の心を探すことでもあった。続く福岡ではにStudio Kura に滞在し、「糸島芸祭2012」に参加した。そこでは、お米をテーマにしたデザインのワークショップを行い、「Spirit Away」と題した展示を行った。紙で作った作品を美しい自然の中に飾って、お米にまつわる寓話を表現した。更に、日本での滞在中、地元の有名な作家やデザイナーと対話の機会を得たり、日本の伝統的な紙漉の工程を学んだ。それぞれの場所は、互いに遠く離れていて大きな違いがある。けれども、魂の中の何かが似通っている。どこに行こうと、そこが私の家の様に感じるのだ。
